Product description:

Even Emily Post would approve of this proper and cheerful stationery and desk accessory collection. "From the desk of" harkens back to a time of hand-written letters and calling cards—a time when people actually spelled out their words and used punctuation. Choose your character and personalize any item for yourself or give as a gift. Continue the tradition of proper written correspondence and office etiquette.

Target audience: adults who enjoy reading hand-written correspondence over a hot mug of morning coffee
